

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to an external capsule for holding fluid material suitable for preserving medical device, in particular a dental
5 implant, wherein the external capsule is formed of cyclic olefin copolymer.

Fig. 2